CELEBRATING 50 YEARS

The Jerome D. Diamond Adolescent Centre (JDD) is a children's mental health centre and school dedicated to providing hope and help to youth with educational, emotional and /or behavioural challenges. The JDD was founded in 1974 by Jewish Family and Child Service (JF&CS) and is operated in partnership with the Toronto District School Board (TDSB) and the Ministry of Children, Community and Social Services (MCCSS).

JF&CS stresses the importance of strengthening and supporting families and as a result, developed a multi-functional operation in order to obtain that goal. The establishment of the JDD was a natural outgrowth of the agency's varied experiences with group living and skill development programs.

The JDD provides services to youth between the ages of 11 and 17. Up to 32 students can be enrolled per academic year and counselling services are provided to students and their families.

For five decades, the JDD has helped hundreds of young people by providing them with the skills and support they need to reintegrate into the mainstream education system.
